SOFTWARE PATENTS: A PRACTICAL PERSPECTIVE (2 credits) - Prof. Sutton

Classes will meet from 9:00-12:00 noon and 2:00-5:00 p.m. each day. There are no prerequisites for the course, although some familiarity with computers and software could be helpful. This course will address ongoing changes to the laws of patentable subject matter, indefiniteness, and divided infringement, and the practical implications of these changes on software patents. The course will also address the evolution of software innovation being protected, discussing how artificial intelligence and large language models in particular are impacting the industry. After an introduction to both patents and software, the course will focus on the Supreme Court decisions in Alice Corporation Pty. Ltd. v. CLS Bank International, Nautilus, Inc. v. Biosig Instruments, Inc., and Limelight Networks, Inc. v. Akamai Technologies, Inc., as well as the related case law. During the course, students will learn practical techniques to analyze existing software patent claims relating to modern software innovation based on these areas of developing law to form opinions regarding patent validity and patent infringement, and to suggest changes that could eliminate issues that may arise regarding invalidity and non-infringement.
